

Felicia Boyd has a BS in Human Resources and Business Marketing and has been with Siemens since August 2011. Since joining, she has served as a Human Resources Business Partner supporting Smart Grid, Building Technologies, and Water Technologies in the Midwest Region. In addition, Felicia joined the Talent Acquisition organization as a University Recruiting Specialist responsible for building and maintaining relationships at Siemens US Target Schools, training campus representatives, and selling Siemens as an employer of choice to colleges and universities. Back in 2015, she accepted a position with Siemens Digital Industries Software as Global Head of University Relations. With this venture, Felicia relocated from Minneapolis, MN to the sunny Orange County, CA. Her focus is around building out their Strategic Student Program model to key office locations while continuing to build partnerships with key universities along the way. Prior to joining Siemens, she has held numerous positions in the field of Human Resources at both the Minnesota Department of Transportation and Money Gram International. Outside of her professional life, Felicia enjoys spending time with her family and friends. Having a nephew and niece keep her busy and she'd have it no other way. In addition, she's an avid traveler and says her top favorite trip to date is the one she took 2 years ago to Bali and Singapore!
